

The Mosaic of Senses

TO THE EAR :

By its living music: the song of the cicadas in the warm season, the noisy, intoxicating, icy, sharp breath of the Mistral in winter...

TO THE EYE:

By this depth of views in cool weather with the majestic Montagne Noire to the North East, a true actor of the semi-arid climate, towards the South one sees the chiselled elegance of the terraces that lead to the sea...

TO THE NOSE:

With its scents of thyme, boxwood, fennel and hot stones that burn your insides, so hot is the air in the height of summer...

IN MOUTH:

By its wine tasted on the shady and noisy terraces accompanied by local dishes Fréginat, crayfish poached in the local streams, wild boar, Sunday chicken, small stuffings and figs with garden wine...

TO THE TOUCH

...

ABOUT THIS CUVÉE

- Plots 11 and 61 years old.
- Altitude around 170m
- Soil : clay-limestone with marl and sandstone.
- Harvested when ripe, partly by hand and partly by machine.
- The grapes are destemmed.
- Pumping over only.
- Short vatting period
- Bottled quickly to capture the aromas.

TASTING COMMENTARY

The colour is a bright, shallow red.

The nose is magnificently aromatic and fruity, as is the attack on the palate: red fruit with a slightly toasty finish.

The tannins are light and mellow.

A wine for friends, a wine for pleasure.

A perfect accompaniment to starters, light cuisine, spicy dishes and world cuisine.

As an aperitif and with all its accompaniments, such as spreads and coconnailles.

FLORIANE

AOP LA LIVINIÈRE
2022

SYRAH 84% MOURVÈDRE 16%

ABOUT THIS CUVÉE

- Plot selection, young vines 6 years old, reclaimed abandoned hillside, south-facing
- Altitude 230m.
- Low yield, approx. 25hl/hectare.
- Clay-limestone soil with veins of soft limestone
- Hand-harvested, slightly over-ripe grapes.
- Vinified destemmed
- Remontages, délestages.
- Aged in jars (60% clay, 40% sandstone.) Micro-oxygenation is favoured, preserving the purity of the fruit : this type of ageing does not impart any taste or smell.

TASTING COMMENTARY

Deep colour, black juice.

The nose is fruity and mineral. There are hints of menthol and garrigue.

On the palate, the attack is straightforward and fresh, with black fruit, minerality and a slightly chalky finish.

Aeration reveals its full bouquet.

Our grape varieties

SYRAH

Legend has it that it comes from Persia (Iran), from the town of Shiraz or Chiraz. In 1998, a paternity test revealed that Syrah is the fruit of a natural cross between Mondeuse blanche (the mother, from Savoie) and Dureza (the father, from Ardèche). A grape variety with red and black fruit aromas.

CARIGNAN

It tolerates heat and wind well. It likes dry, stony slopes, which are highly susceptible to powdery mildew. On hillsides, when properly trained and vinified, it develops the inimitable fragrance of the garrigue. Perfectly adapted to the Mediterranean climate, it can be pruned in a goblet shape, which, with its drooping leaves close to the ground, protects it from the sun and enables it to withstand the violent winds that often blow here. Another quality is its great resistance to drought. An unloved plant...and yet so great.

GRENACHE

Seductive and generous, Grenache is one of the world's most popular and widely grown grape varieties. Also known as Grenache Noir, of Spanish origin, it is found in a large number of Mediterranean appellations. A sun-loving variety, it thrives in our terroirs.

It produces particularly fruity, characterful red wines. It is characterized by its golden-red color. Remarkably powerful, it exhales aromas of red fruit (especially raspberry) and spices.

MOURVÈDRE

It has found its preferred terroir here, particularly in the south. It thrives in a hot, dry climate.

A variety with a strong personality, it produces red wines of character, powerful and tannic. Its aromas are empyreumatic, with notes of pepper, caramel and roasting. Mourvèdre also imparts black fruit notes (blackberry and blueberry) with vegetal touches of laurel and garrigue.

CINSAULT

It produces large black grapes, with very sweet, juicy white flesh. An old Languedoc variety, low in tannins. It is drought and wind resistant and can tolerate extreme temperatures.

TERRET BLANC

These are twin varieties of Terret Noir. Both were widely cultivated in the Hérault region near Sète. Nervous grape variety.

GRENACHE BLANC

This variety is the white mutation of Grenache noir. Its area of cultivation is steadily declining in Languedoc. It produces an interesting, warm dry white wine, long on the palate with fullness and body, with aromas of fennel, dill, melon and white nectarine.
